

theClubhou.se
540 Telfair Street
Augusta, GA 30901

Software Development Instructor

- Do you get excited by well thought out logic structures?
- Are you comfortable presenting in front of people?
- Do you want to be a leader in the talent development of our community?

theClubhou.se is searching for a highly qualified, motivated, entrepreneurial candidate to lead our internal development efforts and serve as the primary instructor for a Full Stack development bootcamp. Your role will be one of exciting growth and potential as you join our team as the first full time developer and also teach our first Full Stack development bootcamp. This is a full time position that reports directly to the Executive Team and involves occasional evenings and weekends, and occasional travel.

Skills Needed:

- Comfortable in teaching adult learners in full stack web development.
- Extremely comfortable in PHP, HTML, CSS, MySQL, and Javascript.
- Comfortable building web-based applications from scratch and working with customers to gather requirements.
- Experience writing course curriculum is a bonus.
- Experience in a dynamic start-up environment is also preferred.
- Ability to forecast trends and work in multiple stacks will enable continued growth

Job Responsibilities:

- Instruction
 - Provide daily lessons in web/software development
 - Document and adapt curriculum
 - Train additional instructors
- Community Engagement
 - Regularly meet with industry leaders to identify software development trends
 - Coordinate guest lectures and reviews
 - Organize job fairs
 - Advise in program development
- Software Development
 - Lead maintenance and development theClubhou.se digital assets

Essential Traits:

- Empathy
- Punctuality
- Confidentiality
- Creativity
- Team Player
- Willingness to learn
- Willingness to listen
- Willingness to teach
- Comfortable speaking
- Ready to adapt